

The image displays three vertical panels of a landscape. Each panel shows a field of dense, green, low-lying shrubs in the foreground. In the background, there is a flat expanse of land leading to a range of low, hazy mountains under a vast, clear blue sky. The panels are presented as if they are screenshots from a software application, with a blue title bar at the top containing standard window controls (minimize, maximize, close) and a red close button on the far left.

